

than the fourth of last, save and except that I, naturally try to be better each day. Again our Prophet-peasant, Prince of Peace, and laborer-Messiah also informed us that were we to pray with the knowledge (not blind belief) that we would "remove mountains." How many will pray on Peace Day, and then like the old woman, get up from tired knees, and read the latest account of blood and pillage, with an "Just as I expected?"—A. E. Carver, Gary, Ind.

ATTACKS ON THE CHURCH

Editor Day Book:—We are pleased when we read the reports of the psychopathic tests as successfully carried on in the psychopathic laboratory of the Municipal Court. But nothing is being said, no effort being made to prevent men afflicted with "pseudophobia" who infest our street corners every evening to rail and blaspheme against the churches. These Knights of the Curbstone thrive, especially in the vicinity where numerous rooming houses are located; sometimes on corners bounding the neighborhood that is known as a fast or sporty district. Their pernicious utterances against all religious thought show clearly the diseased and distorted mind, caused ostensibly from the cumulative effect of bad beer or a perusal of Thomas Paine's "Age of Reason."

I believe if these men were subjected to an examination at "the Psychopathic Laboratory" the result would bring joy to the "heart of a journeyman alienist." No comment is necessary as to what effect his wild fanatical effusions have on his audience, which is composed generally of young persons. I firmly believe in having a free press and speech as was advocated by men like Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lincoln, et al., and would not care if a man expressed his opinions till he acquired a desert thirst. But the way this graft is being worked (not by men who are serious in their intentions or men who think they are enlightening the public), the crowd is panhandled for two or three dollars 'ere they begin to rip the clergy up the back and transport them to the land of peppers; nor does the destruction of the church take place unless the coin is forthcoming. The joke is on the audience. They pay about two or three dollars every evening to act as a receptacle to catch the putrid, filthy exhortations of those irresponsible men.—D. I. Sullivan.

SUFFRAGISTS HOPE TO WIN NORTH DAKOTA

Clara L.
Darrow

Fargo, N. D.—Having placed their state on the suffrage firing line and foremost among the seven "campaign states," the women of North Dakota are making a determined effort to win the battle for ballots at the November election. Mrs. Clara Darrow, president of the Votes for Women League, is confident of victory.
